

PEMBINE SCENE OF FATAL WRECK

Five Lose Lives Saturday Night When Milwaukee Train Strikes Tree

Four persons lost their lives and one was so badly hurt that death may follow in a wreck on the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railroad late Saturday night. The train wrecked was the fast copper country limited. The dead are:

Engineer Frank O'Connor, Green Bay.
Fireman Albert Klinesmith, Green Bay.

Walter Way, 11 years old, son of Express Messenger Way.

Unknown colored tramp riding on blind baggage.

The injured:
Walter Way, express messenger Green Bay.

The accident occurred three miles northwest of Pembine and was caused by a large tree which had blown across the track during a wind storm.

About thirty miles an hour was the speed of the train when it crashed into the obstruction. It is said that Engineer O'Connor saw the tree on the track but too late to work his air brakes. As the locomotive struck the tree the boiler busted allowing the steam to escape and scalding the engineer, fireman and young Way who were pinned under the wreckage.

The boy was on a vacation trip and was riding in the express car with his father.

The locomotive, mail, baggage and express cars were thrown into the ditch and partially demolished.

Haroc reigned among the passengers on the train. Men stampeded the aisles of the coaches and women fainted. Those who had presence of mind enough to keep cool heads busied themselves in an effort to restore order. None of the people in the coaches were hurt and none of the cars were damaged.

The dead were taken to Iron Mountain and Mr. Way to a hospital in that city. The wreck is one of the worst to ever occur on the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul road.

SOHR-ARTHUR BOUT

Local Boy Will Meet DePere Boxer In Antigo

Tonight in Antigo a delegation of Rhinelander fans will witness a terrific round go between Benny Sohr of this city and Kid Arthur of DePere. The contest will be for the lightweight championship of Wisconsin and bids fair to be one of the fastest bouts ever staged in this part of the state. The boys will weigh in at 132 pounds at three o'clock.

Sohr has been in hard training in Antigo for some weeks past and will be in prime shape for the encounter. Those who have seen him work out this week express surprise at the lad's agility, cleverness and hitting power. His last tilt was with Driscoll in Manitowoc in which he received a newspaper decision.

Arthur is reputed to be a lively mixer, well acquainted with all the tricks of the game and will without question give the local product a stiff tussle.

Sohr is scheduled to meet Billy Hughes, the Canadian lightweight, in Antigo, August 17.

CYCLONE SWEEPS LAC DU FLAMBEAU

Wind Destroys Twelve Houses There Early Saturday Evening

Twelve houses were destroyed in Lac du Flambeau early Saturday evening in one of the worst wind storms that has swept over that part of the country in many years. Most of the houses destroyed were dwellings occupied by Indians who are located on the government reservation.

Three Indians were caught in the falling debris and injured, two of them seriously. They will recover.

James Olmstead, the Lac du Flambeau hotel man, said that the storm came on about six o'clock. The wind was terrific and people sought protection in cellars and other places of safety. For a few minutes it seemed as though the whole village would be laid in ruins. The gale was accompanied by a heavy rain and it is estimated that five inches of water fell within three hours.

$5,880 IS AMOUNT FOR ONEIDA ROADS

State Appropriates $1,200,000 For 1914 Highway Construction

$5,880 is the minimum amount available from the state for road construction in Oneida county under the law appropriating $1,200,000 for the year 1914 for state aid road and bridge construction. The amount allotted to each county can be increased provided any counties fail to call for their full proportion of state aid.

In 1913 Oneida county applied for $3,600 and in 1912 $2,500 for road work. The entire state appropriation for 1914 together with funds available from the towns and counties will amount to about $3,800,000.

In the appropriation Milwaukee county receives the largest amount, $231,000; Dane is second with $57,720 and Rock third with $34,680.

Towns may hold special meetings at any date prior to September 1st and vote a tax for state aid purposes for 1914. Such special meetings may be called upon petition of not less than twelve freeholders or three weeks notice, and taxes so voted draw aid in the same way that taxes voted at the spring election do.

Groups of citizens residing in the county may collect subscriptions in cash for any certain improvement and prior to August 15th pay them into the town treasury of the town in which the road lies, in which case the town (within certain tax limits) is forced to levy a tax for an equal amount and apply for state and county aid. Such a method produces an improvement costing six times the amount raised by subscription.

If the subscribers do not wish to force the towns to levy taxes they may collect a sum not less than $400, pay it over to the town board, and the town board may petition for state and county aid just as if the money was voted by the town. This money produces an improvement costing three times the amount of the subscription.

The fourth method is for the county board to hold a meeting on any date prior to October 1st and vote to do certain pieces of construction without having the towns take the initiative, the county voting to pay two-thirds of the cost of the work and one-third to be paid by the state. In every case the improvement must be made on the county system of prospective state highways laid out by the county board.

FIRST ANNIVERSARY

M. W. Sorenson's Business Here Is Constantly Increasing

August first marks the first anniversary of M. W. Sorenson's business career in Rhinelander. Owing to the great increase in his patronage, he has found it necessary to engage the services of Mr. B. A. Torgeson, a skilled watchmaker and jeweler. Mr. Torgeson is a graduate of the Bradley Horological Institute, Peoria, Ill., and comes to Mr. Sorenson highly recommended. This store is now in a position to do all repair work more promptly than in the past. Satisfaction always guaranteed. Mr. Sorenson wishes to thank all those who have helped to make his business a success during the last year and hopes that they will continue to be his customers and also solicit new patronage.

SOME TROUT FISHERMEN

Twenty brook trout, the combined weight of which was thirty-two pounds, represented the spoils of a brief fishing trip indulged in by Mr. H. L. Garner and Joseph Buskey on the Peshtigo river near Cavour a few days ago.

The trout were among the finest ever brought to this city and received the admiration of every one who saw them. The smallest fish weighed three quarters of a pound and the largest, the grand prize, four pounds, $5.00.

NORTHWESTERN ACCIDENTS

Passenger Train Narrowly Escapes Bad Wreck Monday

While moving at a speed of about thirty miles an hour the tender of the locomotive pulling Northwestern passenger train 116, which arrives in this city at 10:26 a. m., jumped the track three miles north of Rhinelander Monday morning. The accident was fortunate in the fact that nobody was hurt and the damage amounted to but a trifle.

After leaving the rails the tender bounded along the ties for about a quarter of a mile before the engine came to a stop. The derailed car was replaced on the track by the switch engine crew from this city. The accident delayed the train nearly four hours. Several passengers for Rhinelander completed the remainder of the distance to this city on foot.

Cars Leave Track

Two freight cars of train 289 on the Northwestern road, one loaded with meat and the other with lumber, left the track Monday morning in the south end of the Rhinelander yards just as the train was entering this city. The wrecking train from Ironwood was ordered here to clear the track. The damage was small.

Break Down On Limited

The north bound Northwestern limited was four hours behind schedule in arriving in this city Sunday morning owing to a break down which delayed the train near Shawano. As the train was pulling out of Rhinelander the draw bar on the mail car broke occasioning another delay of half an hour. The car was uncoupled and attached to the rear of the train. A number of the passengers took advantage of the tie-up to eat breakfast here.

LIGHTNING STRIKES BARN

Building, One Horse and A Cow Burn Saturday Night

Lightning Saturday night struck the barn of L. O. Larson north of this city and in the fire which resulted a horse and a cow and several tons of hay were burned. The building was totally destroyed. Mr. Larson carried no insurance and his circumstances cause him to feel his loss keenly.

Mr. Larson's misfortune came during the heavy electrical storm that night. The barn was struck a little after nine o'clock. There was no means of fighting the fire and the big frame structure was soon in ruins.

GOVERNOR SIGNS BILL

Committee To Investigate The Proposed Forest Reserve

Madison, Wis., July 28.—Gov. McGovern today signed the bill, which provides for the appointment of a legislative committee of eight, three senators and five assemblymen to make an investigation and report to the legislature of 1915 as to what lands in the forest reserve in the counties of Forest, Iron, Oneida, Price and Vilas are better adapted to agriculture than to reforestation and whether or not it is better for all concerned, especially the taxpayers, that such lands be devoted to purposes other than reforestation. The bill also provides that there shall be no further purchases of lands for forestry purposes until July, 1915.

PAY CIRCUS LICENSE

The Antigo business men believe that a circus is a help to a town. Gollmar Brothers were asked a license. They are of the opinion that that city. The circus refused to pay this sum and rather than lose the show the merchants and hotel men subscribed the amount of the license. They are of the opinion that a circus leaves money in a town and also stimulates trade. Gollmars or their agent in Antigo Monday, Aug. 13. It will be the show's weekly pay and the pay roll will amount to over $5,000.

COMPLETES WALK OF 1760 MILES

Thomas O'Brien, a Paralytic, Does Distance From Portland, Ore., On Foot

Thomas O'Brien, a brother of John O'Brien of the Rhinelander police department, arrived in Rhinelander Tuesday night after walking from Portland, Ore., to Auburndale, Wis., a distance of 1760 miles.

O'Brien, who is a young man, suffered a paralytic stroke a few years ago and for a long time his entire left side was practically useless. Medical treatment tended to give him little relief and over a year ago he went from Rhinelander to Portland, where he thought the climate would improve his condition. Conceiving the idea that walking might benefit him and probably result in restoring his former health, O'Brien left Portland on the 9th of March last on the first stage of his long hike to Wisconsin. His entire capital was the munificent sum of five cents. He carried a pack containing bed clothing, underwear and other necessities the weight of which was about 75 pounds. At that time he could move his right foot only with difficulty, but as the days elapsed and he tramped along his limbs became noticeably stronger, enabling him to cover greater distances.

At each city which the pedestrian visited enroute he would call on the mayor and that official would find him work for a day or two. The small proceeds from this labor was used to purchase food and pay other expenses of his journey. When work was scarce O'Brien went hungry and frequently was without food for two days at a time. He often was obliged to sleep in police stations when he did not have the price of a bed. His pride prevented him from begging food or asking for money.

On June 13th, O'Brien reached Auburndale where he remained until Tuesday with relatives and completed the remainder of the trip on the train.

O'Brien was four months on his remarkable jaunt of 1760 miles. He covered on an average of 35 miles per day and spent over six weeks in actual walking. His route was a long the railroad tracks, his favorite system being the Chicago, Milwaukee and Puget Sound. On his hike he wore out two pairs of shoes, both pairs having been resoled.

O'Brien has found that his feat of pedestrianism has almost relieved him of his paralysis and he hopes to be entirely cured. Local physicians who were familiar with the young man's former physical condition marvel at his successful undertaking and the decided improvement in his health.

O'Brien intends to secure employment in Rhinelander and at some later date may start on a walk to New York City.

WAKEFIELD CLEVER COMEDIAN

He Is Making Big Hit At The Majestic Theater

In George G. Wakefield and company in "Cheese and Crackers" the Majestic theater presented something extra good in the line of vaudeville this week. As the name would imply "Cheese and Crackers" is a comedy sketch, one of the rip roaring, side splitting kind and consists of one act. Mr. Wakefield is a comedian who possesses the faculty of saying and doing something really funny without resorting to foolish play and worn out levity. There is only one fault with his act—it ends all too soon. Mr. Wakefield previously appeared in Rhinelander as the star in "Faust" and the "Cat and the Fiddle."

Miss Margie Holland of Wausau is visiting her mother in this city.

INDIAN MOUNDS IN CASSIAN

Four Large Groups Are Discovered By Archaeological Society

Indian mounds have been found in the town of Cassian, Oneida county, by J. P. Schumacher of Green Bay, and W. A. Titus of Fond du Lac who have been conducting a survey in the interest of the Wisconsin Archaeological society. They have finished their work for this year after making a survey along the Wisconsin river valley which was started from Portage county.

Near Lake Onnoland in the town of New Hope, Portage county, a chain of fifteen Indian mounds and five caches, where the Indians stored their provisions, flints and potsherds were found. Near the shore of the lake they found an Indian dancing platform, built up in an incomplete circle. No excavations were made for Indian relics.

Near Lake Emily, Portage county, seventeen Indian burial mounds, a dancing floor was found near Mud lake, in the town of Amherst, Portage county. Continuing on north, four large groups of Indian mounds were found in the town of Cassian, Oneida county. Three large groups were found in northern Lincoln county near Bradley and Heafford Junctions.

Each year the society undertakes to map out certain districts which are presumed to be rich in Indian lore, and as time goes on, the society approaches a complete map for the entire state.

GOLLMAR'S CIRCUS HERE AUGUST 15

Greatest of American Shows Is Bigger, Brighter and Better Than Ever

Gollmar Brothers' Greatest of American Shows will exhibit in Rhinelander, Friday, August 15th. Fred Wagner, contracting agent, was in the city today making arrangements for the coming of the big circus.

Since the last exhibition of the Gollmar show in Rhinelander, two years ago, it has been greatly enlarged and today ranks among the leading tented attractions. Thirty-five double length cars are required for its transportation. All the best artists of America and Europe have been engaged by the Gollmars and the two-and-one-half hours performance under the big top is not excelled by any other circus.

There are hundreds of beautiful horses with the show and a large menagerie which contains some of the rarest and most valuable specimens of the animal kingdom. Seven hundred people are on the circus payroll.

On the morning of the show's appearance here there will take place a grand, glittering free parade, nearly two miles long, which will be one of the greatest pageants ever seen on the streets of this city.

The circus will be located on the fair grounds, the site having been contracted for with the fair association. Advertising car number one will be in the city Saturday.

A 39 POUND MUSKY

Thirty-nine pounds was the weight of a muskallunge captured in Tomahawk Lake Monday by Charles Jens, a well known traveling freight agent of the Pere-Marquette line. It is needless to state that the monster gave Mr. Jens a vicious fight and at one time narrowly missed swamping the boat. The prize was shipped to Milwaukee to be mounted and will decorate a corner of Mr. Jens' den. Mr. Jens and his family are on an outing at Tomahawk Lake.

LACERATES HIS ARM

Three Ways to Buy Clothes

You Buy Your Clothes in One of Three Ways
Which do you think is the best way?

1. You may go to your dressmaker and have you suit or coat "made to order." You have delays, "try-ons." You don't know what you are going to get; and if she is a moderate priced "dress-maker"—$25, $30, $40—you don't get very much.
2. You may pick out a piece of cloth from a sample book send your specifications away some where, and wait. If the suit "makes up" as you expected, if it is trimmed as you hoped, if it fits as you wanted it to, you are lucky.
3. You may step into our Cloak and Suit Dept., see them ready, not merely a piece of cloth; see how they look on you, not in an illustration or on a dummy figure; see the linings and trimmings, not merely words about them; see how the garment fits before you buy, not after; see if it is becoming to you, not just guess at it, and take only a few minutes of your time.

This third way is right; you pay less than in 1, and get more value than in 2. As a demonstration of it, call in to our store at any time convenient for you. Bring your friends along with you and let them help you judge the good points of our Suits and Coats. Examine the make carefully. Take a good look at the style and cut. TAKE THE HOME PAPER

We once knew a man who was too stingy to take the newspaper in his home town and always went over to borrow his neighbor's paper, says the Keweenaw Miner.

One evening he sent his son over to borrow the paper and while the son was on the way he ran into a large stand of bees and in a few minutes his face looked like a summer squash.

Hearing the agonized cry of the son, the father ran to his assistance and, in doing so, ran into a barbed wire fence, cutting out a handful of flesh from his anatomy and ruining a pair of trousers.

The old cow took advantage of the hole in the fence, got into the corral and killed herself eating green corn. Hearing the racket the stung man's wife ran out of the house, upsetting a four gallon churn of cream into a basket of kittens drowning the whole flock. She slipped on the cream and fell downstairs breaking her leg and a $10 set of false teeth. The baby, left alone, crawled through the spilled cream into the parlor and ruined a $10 carpet. During the excitement the daughter eloped with the hired man taking the family savings with them.

The moral is that every man should be a subscriber to his home newspaper.—Exchange.

KEEPING IN THE FASHION

Times have changed—and women with them. A generation ago the western country merchant used to go to New York at the end of the season and buy a full stock of left-over garments, hats, dress goods and patterns, which he brought out the next spring and sold as the latest fashions. Women wore them and were happy, for there was more to tell them that they were a year behind time.

The modern newspapers, with their daily and Sunday fashion columns have changed all that. Today every wide-awake woman on the remotest farms of Illinois, Indiana, Michigan, Wisconsin or Iowa, is as much up to date in her knowledge of modes as any woman in Chicago or New York. They all want to know, at least, what the latest styles are, so that they can make their plans accordingly.

In this connection The Record-Herald is to be congratulated upon its recent acquisition of Anne Rittenhouse and her daily and Sunday fashion articles. There is no higher authority or breezier writer on fashions than Anne Rittenhouse. She writes so well that men are said to read her on the sly, and at the same time she is always reliable and up to the instant. Her knack of getting inside information is phenomenal. One of the most valuable features of her work is that she so often tells in advance what the style is going to be.

Score one more hit for The Chicago Record-Herald! No woman will miss the writings of Anne Rittenhouse if she can help it. As The Record-Herald is equally up to date on general news, market reports and mail order affairs, it will now be more securely entrenched than ever as the favorite family paper in this part of the country.

NOT WAR ON FORESTRY

Recent Action Is Not To Be So Constructed

By A. D. Campbell

The recent action of the legislature, in which the purchase of land by the forestry department has been suspended for two years, is not to be taken as a war on forestry. The writer heretofore was a supporter of the bill, but is not an antagonist to rational forestry—on the contrary, I am in favor of that forestry policy that will produce results for the state.

I believe that nearly all of those who took part in the recent contest take the same position and that when the report of the investigation committee is received we will get together on a plan that will be permanent and successful.

There are times when people in charge of a state department need the application of a check rein—and this was one of those times.

The state now has an immense acreage and it is time that some progress were made with that land. When we have a report that work has well progressed on the land already possessed by the state and it is shown that more can be used to good advantage there is little doubt that the people of the state will respond as all wide-awake people should and provide for more land.

In the meantime we shall have determined what are and what are not agricultural lands, and the counties involved will be able to go ahead with their development. It may as well now be concluded as later on that there will be stubborn opposition to any plan that proposes to place all the forests in one place—for that is neither in the interest of the counties nor of the state. As already stated, we want to get down to rock bottom in this matter and have a thoroughly digested plan—and then go ahead. It is not a war on forestry as some have repeatedly stated.

WOMAN'S SUFFRAGE DEPARTMENT

Edited by Florence McRae and Una Reardon, Members of the Press Committee of the E. S. L.

Toughing on the suffrage question Sunday at the park, Mr. A. R. Bucknam said: "In part it is true that if we give the women the ballot they will kill the liquor traffic; and that's what I don't like about it. It will go down in history for all future generations to read that men built up the greatest criminal traffic of all ages; and it was only through the bravery of women that it was destroyed."

"It behooves us men to spread the news with all possible haste that it now lies in cold storage waiting for the great national funeral. To this we invite the women as pallbearers."

"When man was made God could not find a good place to put another head on him, so he made woman to carry his OTHER HEAD around for him."

No wonder we have made such slow progress in politics. We have the use of only half our men and it is the worse half too.

"The home is divided into two departments, the house and the barn. The woman is the queen of the home and the man is the king of the barn. The barn is represented in politics. So you wonder it smells a good deal like the barn? We welcome the women with their scrub brushes."

INCREASE PARCEL WEIGHT.

Will Allow Larger Bundles and Lessen Cost Of Sending

Plans for the extension, improvement and reduction in rates of the parcels post were announced by Postmaster General Burleson. The changes, which are to become effective on Aug. 15, include an increase from eleven pounds to twenty pounds in the maximum weight of parcels; a material reduction in the postage rates in the first and second zones; and the abandonment of the parcels post map as a means of computing rates and the substitution for it of a rate chart individualized to every postoffice in the United States. The plans contemplate the purchase of a large number of automobiles to be used exclusively for the delivery of parcels post matter.

While, for the present, the maximum weight limit of twenty pounds and the reduction in rates will apply only to the first and second zones from any given postoffice—a distance of about 150 miles—the changes directed constitute the first long step toward a universal extension of the system and a general reduction in the rates for postage on parcel matter.

ARE USING BAYONETS

Army bayonets now form part of the emergency telephone outfit of forest rangers, used chiefly in fighting fires. This emergency line consists of small instruments and a coil of fine copper wire. The wire is attached to the nearest telephone line the bayonet is thrust into moist ground at the other end, and with the circuit thus completed the ranger can talk with headquarters, report his position, and summon fire fighters if necessary.

Read this: Mrs. A. Grubel, 825 Arbutus St., Rhinelander, Wis., says: "I have found Doan's Kidney Pills to be just as represented. When I recommend them I know that I am praising a good remedy for kidney trouble. I had an attack of this complaint and was suffering quite severely when I got Doan's Kidney Pills at Reardon's Drug Store. Soon after using them, the pain went away and I felt much better in every way. I gladly recommend Doan's Kidney Pills again. Whenever I use them, they bring the best results and I have thus been convinced of their merits."

"PRINCE OF TONIGHT"

Something novel is in store for the theatre goer when the Adams, Hough and Howard musical fantasy "The Prince of Tonight," with Tom Arnold, in the title role will be presented at the Grand Opera House, Aug. 23.

Mr. Arnold's role is that of a college youth, poor but resourceful, who is spurned by a beautiful heiress whom he dares love, and who eventually wins her after being transformed by the mystic influence of a blooming century plant, into a prince of the mythical land of Luntania. It is a pretty story, well told and gives the authors an opportunity to introduce a number of pretty songs, snappy and witty lines, pretty girls, an excellent male chorus, a wealth of beautiful scenery, electrical effects, attractive costumes and everything that goes to make up the best of musical extravaganza.

WILL BUILD THE ROAD

The information that the newly organized Chicago & Wisconsin Valley Street Railway company had abandoned the plan of building a line from Portage by way of Adams county to Stevens Point was based upon erroneous information. The prospectus of the new company shows that the construction of this line is still contemplated and that if built, it may be extended from here to Wausau—Stevens Point Journal.

Boy wanted to learn the printing trade. Inquire at New North.

Is the only privilege of the taxpayer that of marching to the city treasury with his money to pay his taxes?

What is the objection to enlightening the public without inconveniencing every individual taxpayer by requiring him to go to the city hall to find whether he is justly taxed or not?

Assemblyman Anderson has ordered shipped to the New North one hundred blue books for 1913, to be distributed among the citizens of the county. If you wish to add this blue book to the set you now have call at the New North office and get one.

We have always stood in favor of giving good circuses, good carnivals and good entertainments the privileges of our city, if not too frequent but we oppose a promiscuous opening of our city gates to everything that comes along. There is entertainment and a certain amount of instruction in a good show but a poor one drains the pockets of the citizens without giving anything in return. Care should be used in opening our city to entertainments.

POSTED MAN MUST MOVE ON.
Under a law enacted May 10, 1912, posted men must no longer linger about saloons.

Both the posted man and the saloon keeper are liable if the law is disregarded. The laws are becoming more effective to aid the family of the man addicted to the habit of excessive drinking. The purpose of the law is to protect the community from the danger of having the family of the drunkard become a charge upon the public.

BIG SETTLER MOVEMENT.
Indications are that the year 1913 will see the biggest movement of settlers to upper Wisconsin in the history of the state. The present spring shows more activity in that direction than has been experienced by those who have been in the business for years. Inquiries are being received from all parts of the country by the Wisconsin Advancement Association and settlers and prospective settlers are daily passing through Milwaukee bound northward. Those familiar with the land business predict that the movement beginning is but the opening of a great trend of settlement to northern Wisconsin. The movement to the west and Canada is greatly on the wane and the general opinion of land men is that the next big exodus will be to northern Wisconsin and the rain belt states adjoining.—Evening Wisconsin.

RENDER GREAT SERVICE.
There is all kinds of evidence that our assemblyman, senator and committee at Madison have rendered the most valuable services in the forestry proposition. First, we get a committee to investigate agricultural lands and non-agricultural lands. This committee will report conditions to the next legislature.
Second, we get one and one fourth taxes on full value of the forestry lands from the state. This will mean about $5,000 a year for Oneida county.

After all $3,000 spent in committee work by the county looks small when we consider that we will forever draw about $5,000 a year from the state. Is there a single business man that would not invest $3,000 to draw an annual income of $5,000? Will with joy the taxpayers of Oneida and Vilas counties. Sing the praises of our legislators and all people who worked faithfully to this end.

SENSIBLE LEGISLATION.
The benefits that Ohio is deriving from its new state constitution are becoming more and more apparent. A time goes on. Recently in Cincinnati, during an exceptionally hot spell, a strike occurred in the ice factories. The death rate among infants leaped up and conditions were serious. But under the power given him by the state constitution Mayor Hunt impounded eight of the privately owned ice factories and put them into operation under union conditions with their former crews, and the ice famine of three weeks was ended. Out conservative friends will hold up their hands in horror at thus interfering with the "sacred rights of property," as did the owners of the ice plants and they brought suit to enjoin the mayor from operating the plants, but the courts ruled that the city might retain possession of the plants but was compelled to give bond to make good any damage that resulted while being operated. The strongest argument that could be made to sustain the action of the mayor was the long line of war mothers and children waiting long hours to get a bit of ice to preserve the baby's milk.

There was some attempt at the present session of the Wisconsin Legislature to have a constitutional convention to revise our constitution but the subject was voted down. While our constitution is not as iron-bound as some states it certainly needs revising according to present day ideas and ideals. The old idea of the sacred right of property makes way for the more modern theory of the sacred right of the people and when the great mass of the people are injured and suffering, property rights should not be allowed to stand in the way of quick and substantial justice to them.

AN ESSAY ON HEALTH.
Man drinks whiskey and that clogs the valves; he drinks beer, and that clogs the wheels; he drinks lemonade, ginger ale, buttermilk, iced tea, coffee and what not, and then wonders why his boilers do not burn.
If you should take an ox and put him through a like performance he would be dead in a month. The simplest and plainest laws of health are outraged every day by the average man.

Did Adam smoke? Did Eve wear a corset? Did Solomon chew tobacco? Did Ruth chew gum? Did the children of Israel make for a beer garden after crossing the Red sea? Did Rebecca chew chocolate bonbons and ice cream and call for soda water?

Adam was the first man and was made perfect from head to heel. How long would he remain so after eating pie before going to bed? Suppose he had slept in a bedroom with the windows closed down, the doors shut and two dogs under the bed?

Suppose Eve had been laced up in a corset, worn tight shoes, hobbled her legs and sat up all hours of the night eating chicken salad and Welsh rarebits and trying to keep on four pounds of dead people's hair!—Wellington (Kas.) Journal.

WOULD BOOST WISCONSIN.
That Wisconsin's reputation as a live stock state will be greatly enhanced if a representative display of its herds and flocks is made at the Panama-Pacific Exposition in San Francisco in 1915 is the opinion of one of the officials of the Wisconsin Live Stock Breeders' Association who paid a visit to Rhinelander and The New North one day last week. He, in fact, believes that a suitable and well chosen exhibit of breeds rightly popular with Wisconsin farmers will do much to secure a still larger share of the rapidly developing trade for live stock and live stock products upon the Pacific Coast, in the countries of Central America and in the Islands of the Pacific.

At practically all of the preceding important expositions held in this country Wisconsin farmers, creamery men and cheese makers have won enviable reputations upon their exhibits and the fame of the agricultural resources of the Badger state has spread to all sections of this and to other countries as well. At the World's Columbian Exposition held in Chicago in 1893 and at the Louisiana Purchase Exposition given in St. Louis in 1904 cows bred and owned in this state were accorded premier honors and it is entirely within the range of possibilities that these records could and will again be duplicated by some of our enterprising dairy men. We have in this state the climate, the soil, the breeding stock and the dairy men. The contest of the country's best will supply the inspiration and Wisconsin's commission at this important exposition will undoubtedly appropriate a sufficient amount of its funds to insure a representative display of our most important industry.

OPPOSE PRINTING ASSESSMENT ROLL

Assessor and City Attorney Object To Enlightening Tax Payers

When we announced to the public last week that we would print the assessment roll of the city, as made by the assessor, we never dreamed that an obstacle would be put in our way by city officials, chosen by the people, but now we know better. Our assessor opposed our printing the tax roll free of charge and appealed to City Attorney Rees who up to the present time has also opposed access to the roll by a New North representative for the purpose of printing the list that all might see their assessment and then if they found it necessary, could go before the board of review with evidence to bring about a change. City Attorney Rees says he is still studying on this matter. In the city of Waupun the past three years, the city council has ordered the tax list printed in the official city paper as fast as the assessor could complete his work so there would be nothing apparently done in the dark and also to accommodate the general public, for which a small cost was paid the printer for his work. The New North asked no pay but was willing to go to all this expense for the benefit of its readers and the taxpayers.

We see no harm in this, for the board of review cannot keep within the law and charge a single assessment without evidences for so dollar and then the assessor's figures must be shown in one column and the figures of the board in another. More, the board of review is not supposed to influence the assessor, he is to act entirely independent of them.

It would be useless to say this tax roll is not ready to print for the entire roll of the real-estate was copied and checked complete by the city clerk and the assistant assessor over a week ago. It is up to these city officials as to whether they wish to appear to hide so important a thing as an assessment roll from the very taxpayers or not.

For the benefit of the public, we hope upon further investigation that the city attorney will see it just and proper to let the New North print this list for the accommodation of the taxpayers. Below are instructions given by the state tax commission to the assessors which show very clearly that his work and that of the board are entirely separate and after the roll has been turned over to the board that neither the assessor nor the board can change a single assessment without due evidence.

The Assessment Roll—Assessors' Duties

The law contemplates that the assessor shall exercise his own judgment in respect to every valuation of property to be entered in the assessment roll; that his judgment shall be exercised independently of the board of review and that his own valuations shall be entered in the assessment roll before it is submitted to such board. The assessor cannot be held responsible for the valuations of property until the board of review has determined the same and then adopt valuations fixed by the board; nor can he lawfully substitute the valuations of the board in place of his own. Upon submission of his roll to the board of review the general functions of the assessor are terminated. From then on his authority is ended except in the few particulars in which he is directed by statute to perform specific acts.

The board of review has no power to exercise the functions of the assessor. It cannot lawfully dictate to the assessor the valuation which he shall place upon property in the assessment thereof or otherwise control him in the exercise of his judgment. On the contrary, it is legally bound to accept every valuation of property made and entered in the roll by the assessor and to permit the same to stand as the assessment thereof for taxation, unless evidence is submitted to the board showing to its satisfaction that the assessor's valuation is erroneous. Without evidence it cannot legally affix valuations to property which the assessor has failed to value except perhaps in the case of tangible property which has been omitted from the roll through the oversight of the assessor. The board has no authority to change the entries of valuations made by the assessor. Its work in this respect is independent of the assessor's work and supplemental thereto. Its determinations of values are to be entered upon the roll in a separate column, leaving the entries made by the assessor to remain permanently in the assessment roll; and the roll when completed is to constitute a permanent record showing in one column the valuations fixed by the assessor and in a separate column the valuations fixed by the board of review.

From the foregoing it will be seen that it is essential that the work of the assessor shall be fully completed and the results thereof entered in the roll before such roll is submitted to the board for its consideration and action. It will also be seen that the work of the assessor is an essential and independent step in tax proceedings and that the results of such work must be embodied in a permanent record, viz., the assessment roll. As in the case of any other official record, all the assessor's entries in the roll should be written in ink; and such entries by the assessor should be made and completed before the roll is submitted to the board of review.

COMMUNICATED

Guess how many feet of water there is at the mouth of the Pelican river held up by the dam below that there usually would be at this season of the year providing the dam had not been built? While guessing you can remember that there were rapids above the mouth of the Pelican river in the Wisconsin river and that there is still water outside the raise that takes the water away from the paper mill; that there is still water in the Pelican river as far up as the Harrell mill. Below is the company's rights taken from a printed copy in my possession:

Chapter 239

AN ACT to authorize E. S. Shepard and A. W. Shelton, their heirs or assigns, to erect and maintain a dam across the Wisconsin river in Oneida county.

The people of the state of Wisconsin, represented in senate and assembly do enact as follows:

Location of dam.

Section 1. E. S. Shepard and A. W. Shelton, their heirs and assigns, are hereby authorized to build and maintain a dam across the Wisconsin river between the north line of section twenty-three and the south line of section twenty-seven, all of township thirty-six north, of range eight east in Oneida county, Wisconsin, for the purpose of improving the navigation of the Wisconsin river above said dam; and the said E. S. Shepard and A. W. Shelton, their heirs and assigns, are hereby authorized to use the hydraulic power created by said dam for manufacturing purposes.

Powers conferred.

Section 2. Now this unlawful raise of water has made about twenty acres of my land entirely useless. There is no season of the year that there is not still water in the creek that crosses my land as much as twenty rods. All the consolation I have got by trying to get a settlement is that, if you have any money to spend try and collect it, and now claiming it to be outlawed, I would sell the farm today for $100.00 less than I would if the creek crossing my land had its natural run the whole year. I have not the money to law it with.

POSKIE-O'MALLEY WEDDING

Rev. Father Colman Performs Ceremony Wednesday Morning

Miss Pearl Poskie and Joseph O'Malley were quietly wedded Wednesday morning by Rev. Father Colman at St. Mary's church. The bride was attended by Miss Mary Huber and the best man was Thomas McLaughlin. After the ceremony the party partook of breakfast at attending's cafe.

Both Mr. O'Malley and his bride have a large number of friends in the city. He was formerly associated with his brother, Michael O'Malley, in conducting the Soo Hotel.

Wednesday evening a wedding dance was given by the groom at White's hall. The young couple were presented with many beautiful and serviceable gifts.

Mr. and Mrs. O'Malley will make Rhinelander their home. May their journey through life be a long and prosperous one.

MAYOR BRAEGER RETURNS

Mayor and Mrs. H. C. Braeger arrived in the city Saturday from their three weeks stay in the west. They visited St. Maries, Idaho, Spokane, Portland and Seattle. They met many former Rhinelander people and enjoyed the trip.

THE PRIZE EGG

The prize egg for size and weight was brought to the New North office today by Henry Wubker, Jr., of the town of Newbold. This egg measures 8 1/2 inches the long way and 7 1/4 inches the short way and weighs 4 ounces.

Personal Wit in Pulpit.

The pulpit is not immune from wit in our own day, but seldom takes the personal form of a certain divine who, preaching a university sermon at Oxford, ended abruptly by remarking that he "saw it was time to shut his books because the doctor's men had now come, wiping their beards, from the alehouse," referring thus to the custom of the mace bearers, who were wont to repair to a neighboring public house during the preaching and returning only when they thought it was nearly over.

Knew His Master's Politics.

During a general election in England a canvasser called at the house of the late Prof. Froude, the historian. Mr. Froude was out, so the canvasser interrogated the butler as to how Mr. Froude would vote. The butler—an old servant who understood his master well—replied: "When the liberals is in Mr. Froude is sometimes a conservative. When the conservatives is in Mr. Froude is always a liberal."

Get Sugar in Other Ways.

It is significant that the nations who consume the most oil and light wines, all of which contain greater or less amounts of compounds of carbon and water, consume the least sugar per capita. The natives of Italy, Greece and Turkey, for example, consume annually but one-twelfth of the amount of sugar per capita that is consumed by the natives of Great Britain.—American Food Journal.

Health Tip.

Locomotor ataxia is a chronic, progressive disease of the nervous system. It affects the spinal cord particularly. On this account it interferes with muscular co-ordination. It causes the gait of the patient to be irregular and uncertain.

JIM ELLIOT'S MISSION

By GENE D. GRANDE.

It was a sharp gust of wind coming furiously around the corner and filling Jimmy Elliot's eyes with dust that was responsible for the accident. For being partially blinded, he darted forward in the path of a street car, which promptly knocked him over and against the edge of the sidewalk, where he lay senseless, while the breeze caught up his unsold newspapers and scattered them along the block.

Miss Elsie Moore, who, with her escort was just about to enter the theater close by, saw the accident and ran to the boy's side. She placed her dainty handkerchief over the gash in his forehead, while the gentleman with her picked up the lad and carried him to a nearby drug store.

Fortunately the injury was not serious and Jimmy, having recovered his senses, overflowed with gratitude when expressing his thanks to—"do awells" what picked him outen de gutter." Gerald Osborne laughed as he complied with his fiancée's request to recompense the little news-vendor for the loss of his papers. Jimmy naturally looked upon his adventure as a lucky one. The cut on his forehead was a trivial matter, and the five dollar bill Osborne had given him was of much importance.

As it chanced he was destined to see his benefactors on more than one occasion. Osborne and his fiancée were regular theatergoers and it frequently happened that they passed the corner where Jimmy had his headquarters. At such times the boy was always sure of a bright smile and kind word from the girl and a tip from her escort. It was late in the fall when he first noticed that his two favorite customers had not paid his stand a visit for an unusually long time. When the winter days came on and they were still missing Jimmy came to the conclusion that they must have been married and left the city.

Three months later on a wet afternoon he suddenly spied among the throng at the corner waiting for the passing cars, the slender form of his former patroness.

"So you missed me, Jimmy?" she queried softly.

"You bet I did, Miss," responded the boy. "I thought youse mebbe got married an' went away somewheres wit' that gent."

The girl shook her head sadly. "No, I didn't get married, Jimmy," she said. "Things have changed with me since I saw you last. I'm just as poor as you are now, Jimmy."

The boy stared at her in utter bewilderment. He noticed that her dress was old and worn, though neat and carefully mended in places.

"Where's Mister Osborne?" he asked. "Don't he know nothin' about it?"

Elsie shook her head again. "I don't know where Mr. Osborne is at present," she said. "We have not seen each other for a long time, not since—I became a working girl."

"Did he trun youse down when you loses yer dough?" demanded the small squire of dames wrathfully.

"I guess that must be it, Jimmy," responded the girl, as she turned to board her car.

The boy's eyes followed her wistfully. "I wonder," he murmured thoughtfully, "if she's still stuck on dat guy. Wish I could see him some-where."

Two days later a familiar voice hailed him and Gerald Osborne tossed a coin on the stand as he caught up a paper.

"Say, youse ain't no friend of mine no more," spoke up Jimmy sturdily, "after de way youse treated Miss Moore."

Osborne dropped the paper and caught his shoulder.

"What do you know about Miss Moore?" he asked excitedly. "Do you know where she is?"

Jimmy recounted his interview with the girl, and Osborne listened attentively.

"It was all a mistake, Jimmy," he said. "I have been hunting for Miss Moore for a long time. When you see her again, follow her, find out where she lives, let me know and I'll reward you well. Don't say anything to her; she wouldn't understand; her mind has been poisoned against me by lies."

True to his trust, Jimmy tracked the girl to her humble home the next time she passed the corner, and a few hours later Elsie stood face to face with her supposedly unfaithful lover and listened to his explanations.

When Mr. Moore's wealth was swallowed up by a unlucky speculation, and the family went to live in a poor section of the city, Osborne, summoned suddenly away on a trip to the east on business, was astounded to receive a curt note from his fiancée breaking off their engagement, but giving no reason for the action. He was unaware that his sister Elsie, who had never liked Elsie, had informed the girl that Gerald had bowed to the wishes of his family and was anxious to break off an engagement which was no longer desirable. Elsie's pride was aroused and considering no further explanation necessary, she took steps to release her lover at once.

It did not take him long to establish his innocence in Elsie's eyes, and before the night was over the reunited lovers started forth in search of Jimmy, the accomplishment of whose mission of gratitude had brought them again together—never to part in this life.

Bits of News Pertaining To The Soo and Northwestern Railroads

The "Soo" Railroad is taking an active interest in the development of sandy soils of central Wisconsin through W. L. Martin, its vice president and traffic manager. He has already undertaken to supply the necessary lime and fertilizers to carry on six experiments in the vicinity of Hancock, in Waushara county, the purpose of the investigations being to determine what crops can best be grown in this district and how best to manage them. To increase the fertility of the soil, every effort will be made to encourage the growing of clover and other legumes. H. W. Ullsperger of the soils department of the Wisconsin College of Agriculture has charge of this work and Mr. Hovestad, for several years superintendent of Farmers' Institute in North Dakota, and now agricultural commissioner for the "Soo" Railroad, is cooperating with him in the tests. Because of the difficulty met in securing good stands of legumes on the sandy soils and of the fact that these crops are the basis of fertility, it is of the utmost importance that everything possible be done to encourage their growth and to determine the conditions under which their success can be made most certain.

During May the railways of the United States received for their services to the public an average of $8,230,000 a day; it cost to run their trains and for other expenses of operation $5,920,000 a day; their operating income $1,972,222 a day for the 220,697 miles of line reporting, or at the rate of $8.93 for each mile of line for each day. Thus for every six dollars of their earnings which remained available for rentals, interest or bonds, appropriations for betterments, improvements and new construction and for dividends, the railways had to pay more than one dollar in taxes. All of these amounts are substantially greater than the similar returns for May, 1912. They are from the summary of the earnings and expenses compiled by the Bureau of Railways Economics from the monthly reports of the steam railways of the United States to the Interstate Commerce Commission. They include over 95 per cent of the mileage and earnings of all of the railways of the country.

Four passenger trains of the Soo line, one of which was the famous "Velvet Special," passed through Wausau Monday over the right of way of the Northwestern railway. A wreck, details of which were lacking at the local depot, occurred at Weyauwega somewhere about nine o'clock last evening, tied up traffic and disrupted the Soo schedule to such an extent that the main passenger trains were routed via Wausau from Medina Junction to Marshfield where the regular line was again taken. Tracks were cleared at Weyauwega about ten o'clock Monday and the regular schedule of the Soo went into effect after ten hours' delay.—Wausau Record-Herald.

WEEKLY COLUMN FOR THE FARMERS

Timely Article From The Pen Of E. L. Luther, County Representative

Abraham Altenberg, N. M. Even son and Max Kholmueller, farmers of the town of Pelican, are demonstrating what can be done in the way of successful farming in Oneda Co. The farms of these men are all silted and well cultivated. The propositions which they have are not the easiest either. But they are doing splendidly and are successful. What can be done by these men can be done by others with the same diligence and perseverance.

The members of the Oneda County Agricultural Experiment Association ought to make a special exhibit of agricultural products at the county fair. This association was formed for the purpose of growing pure pedigree seed grains for sale for seed purposes. Some of the members already have plots of pure pedigree seeds. This association will also take up the matter of growing pure seed potatoes. An exhibit by this association at the fair will be an appropriate thing. Circular letters to this effect will be sent to each member.

Arrangements are being completed for a special feature at Three Lakes in May of 1912, F. S. Campbell of that town secured a pure bred Guernsey sire. The people of that town have made extensive use of this sire. It is thought that a round-up of the get of this sire will make a good show and will also demonstrate in a most effective way the value of a pure bred sire to a community. On Wednesday, August 13, a meeting will be held at the farm of Mr. Campbell to which it is desired all of the get of this sire be brought. Prof. J. C. Humphrey of the Department of Animal Husbandry and one of the leading dairy animal men of the whole country will be present. Prof. K. L. Hatch under whom the agricultural extension work in Oneda county is being done will also be present. It is believed that this meeting is of enough importance to attract people from all about the county. Every one attending is requested to bring a basket of good things to eat and to help make the affair a big picnic as well. Premiums will be offered for the best calves. This will be one of the best times that Oneda county has seen. So all are invited to attend. Women and children are especially invited.

Everywhere one goes about the county he sees new barns going up. Many of these are of very substantial structure. Barn building is an evidence that men have come to stay and to settle down to real farming. The crops this year justify the building of good storage places. It is very doubtful if one will ever see oats more uniformly good. The hay crop is good. Corn is coming on very well. Here and there are good fields of barley. Barn room for storage of these fine crops is fully justified.

James McGowan has one of the finest and most even pieces of corn that one will see about the county. The best of it all is Mr. McGowan is going to save the whole crop this year by putting it into a new silo. Last year he had a good crop of corn but considerable of it went to waste and so feed became scarce but this year the whole crop will be saved. Corn fodder standing out in the shock loses much of the best feed from it by being rained upon. Rain washed out the best feed. One rain upon a slice of bread or Johnny-cake takes out much that makes the bread and Johnny-cake taste good. It is the same with corn fodder. A lot of farmers in Oneda county are going to save this waste by building silos. Mr. McGowan is one of them.

It is not too late yet to build a silo. Solid concrete silos can be built for about $100 actual outlay. The agricultural representative can secure the forms of another county if enough farmers will call for them to make it worth while. Three farmers are needed. Two silos can be built in August and one in September in time for the corn.

FROM THE SECTION BOSS
I have been in your city 20 days. Six hundred persons have read the little red book "At the Mercy of the State."
I have found many persons who would like to attend a great national funeral.
It will be a strange funeral with no mourners, even the heaviest drinking men, brewery stock holders and saloon men will be singing "Yankee Doodle."
But O! the joy among the children in our larger cities.
Don't get in a hurry to vote your city dry; leave it wet, but free every man you can from the traffic.
No man should be sustained in the city as minister, editor, business man or politician who would perpetuate the liquor traffic.
"Does the liquor traffic help us in our onward progress as a nation?" Let us have a free for all discussion.
We can't stop the progress of woman suffrage. It's coming boys, and we may as well take our medicine.
Men who object to women talking so much should be the first to advocate the ballot for women. The women could then express themselves without saying anything. That would be a relief, boys, wouldn't it?
It is better to have a saloon running without a license than running with one. He won't have to sell so much to pay expenses.
I don't believe in making any changes in our well established methods of handling the liquor business.
Let us all help arrange for the funeral at Washington, March 4, 1917. "The liquor traffic is dead."

WED IN MINNEAPOLIS

Miss Leona White and Jack Anker Surprise Their Friends

Miss Leona White and Dewey Anker, better known as Jack Anker, were united in marriage in Minneapolis a few days ago. The happy young couple returned to this city on the Soo train Wednesday afternoon. The wedding came as a surprise to their many friends in this city. Although Jack had frequently intimated that he would not long remain in the bachelor ranks no one surmised that he would steal a march on his associates.

Mr. and Mrs. Anker are well and favorably known in Rhinelander. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert White and is a popular young lady.

Mr. Anker, or Jack, was until recently manager of the Hotel Fuller in this city in which capacity he demonstrated his business ability. He is widely known among the traveling public and is considered a competent hotel man. Congratulations are in order.

ANTI-SALOON SPEAKER

Rev. J. S. Lean, D. D. of Milwaukee, Supt. of the Wisconsin Anti-Saloon League will speak at the Congregational church next Sunday morning at 10:30, and at the M. E. church in the evening at 8 o'clock. All are cordially invited to attend.

HOLD PICNIC SUNDAY

The Norwegian Danish Sunday school picnic was held at the city park Sunday, the weather being excellent, there was a large attendance. The Varden choir gave a few songs which pleased the learners as usual. In the afternoon Mr. Bucknam, of Norrie, spoke on prohibition and all who heard him seemed to feel assured his arguments were true—and his way of proposing to bury the traffic of intoxicating liquor was a safe and sane one.

TALKING PICTURES

The talking pictures, the latest in the movies, will be seen at the Majestic theater August 5 and 6. Mr. Zanier has gone to a large expense in order to secure these wonderful pictures and they will be a big treat for the people of Rhinelander. The same pictures will be produced at the Majestic for 10 and 20 cents.

WEEKLY LETTER FROM MADISON

Doings Of State Legislature As Told By Our Special Correspondent

Madison, July 29, 1913. —(Special)

Now that the progressive water power bill has passed the legislature in spite of the opposition of the lobby and the threat that water power would not be developed under it, water power owners have already given indication that development will follow. The situation will be materially affected by the depression of the paper industry which would prevent any extended development of water powers for the operation of paper mills even under the most favorable water power bill. Some of the water power men may attempt two years from now to attribute to the new law the slack development of water power for paper mills due to this depression in that business.

Conservation Amendments

Two conservation amendments to the constitution were passed providing that riparian rights now held or hereafter obtained by the state shall forever remain in the state; reserving all mineral and water power rights in lands now or hereafter held by the state; providing that the right to cut timber or minerals from any lands now or hereafter held by the state shall be granted to private individuals only by a two-thirds vote of the members of the legislature; and that the state may appropriate monies to develop water powers. These will have to pass another legislature and a referendum.

Direct Marketing

The defeat of the cooperative and anti-trust enforcement bill by a vote of 25 to 37 in the assembly during the rush of the last day's business is attributed by progressives in the legislature and in Madison to the attempt of Governor McGovern to make this his own personal issue to rehabilitate himself with farmer votes. The progressives regret that the governor put forward so sweeping and ill-considered a bill and so insisted upon its passage that the result was the defeat, in spite of the efforts of the progressives, of any legislation whatever, the Hull bill being vetoed, and the senate market bill defeated in the assembly. The bill strengthening the anti-trust law is a step towards direct marketing, however, and the progressives will not permit the cooperative measure to fall out of sight and at the next session of the legislature they will endeavor to work out another bill.

Mothers' Pensions

The governor has signed the Rose mothers' pension and child aid bill, this plank of the republican platform is carried out in the form supported by the progressive republicans. The main administration of the law is left in the hands of the courts without the extensive machinery proposed in the bill supported by the McGovern lieutenants.

Blue Sky Law Passed

The blue sky law, worked out by the senate committee on corporations and passed by both houses during the last week, is a comprehensive but not a radical measure, and it is expected to work out satisfactorily.

Eugenic Marriages

An important step was taken in the interest of public health during the closing day of the session by the

MARRIED FIFTY YEARS

Mr. and Mrs. A. Despin To Celebrate Anniversary August 5

Surrounded by their eight children and grandchildren to the number of thirty, Mr. and Mrs. A. Despin will celebrate the fiftieth anniversary of their wedding in Armstrong Creek August 5th. For the last four years the aged couple have made their home in Armstrong Creek with their son-in-law, John L. Miller, postmaster there. Both are in excellent health and are looking forward to their golden wedding and the family reunion as one of the happiest events of their half century of wedded life.

S. A. Despin and family of Del Rio, Texas, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. James Coffey Tuesday while on their way to Armstrong Creek to attend the reunion. Mr. Despin is a conductor on the Galveston, Harrisburg & San Antonio railway.

Mr. and Mrs. Coffey will also be among those present at the reunion.

Wanted Useful Article.

A suit having been brought against a defendant, his counsel interposed a demurrer that had the effect to throw it out of court. Soon afterward the same lawyer was elected to congress, and while at his post of duty he was surprised one day to receive a letter from his former client, saying: "I am sued again. Please send me another one of them things they call demurrers."

Sugar's Real Value.

A cane sugar solution injected directly into the blood is apparently unfit for assimilation, for it is eliminated by the kidneys unchanged. The real value of sugar seems to be that the carbon obtained from its disintegration is available for forming the gas known as carbureted hydrogen or methane, which seems indispensable to the growth and respiratory processes of all living organisms.—Am. Food Journal.

Unreasonable.

Irasc Customer—You said this cloth was a fast color, yet it faded in two weeks after it was made up! Draper—Well, I don't think you ought to expect it to fade any faster than that.

A PROMPT TURN OUT

A mixed message from the west end of the village called our fire department on Saturday morning. Atter a hot chase under the lead of Fire Chief Graw, of Milwaukee, Captain Woolf of Lake Mills and Andy Himley of Crandon, it was discovered that the west end of the town was not ablaze but that our street lamp in that section had not been extinguished and as near as we can ascertain, Schwartz, Bonack, Low et al., figured on some excitement and they certainly had occasion to enjoy same. Landlord Lucy was the last member of the department to arrive and was about "all in" lugging several wash tubs, tin pails, etc.
Gasoline seems to be cheap at Three Lakes.

DROWNING AT WHITE FISH LAKE

About 4 o'clock Thursday afternoon a "phone message arrived at Three Lakes from Lake Julia, calling for Cad Eaton on a hurry call. Mr. Eaton having come to town on business, at was promptly located and as he answered the "phone call he was shocked to learn that a sad accident had taken place at his summer home on White Fish Lake; in the excitement he understood the message to say, that his son, Clarence was drowned and that his nephew's recovery was in doubt. Mr. Eaton's ponies having been hitched up and ready
Mr. Eaton accompanied by Wm. J.
Neu left for the scene of the disaster, making the trip of some nine miles in 25 minutes, Mr. Eaton being fairly wild. On reaching Lake Julia they were informed that Mr. Eaton's son was safe and well taken care of at the Hading cottage; a launch was in readiness to convey the two to the south west shore of Lake Julia and in a very short time the scene of the disaster was reached; occupants of five row boats were busily engaged to recover the body of Louis Federer.

The news soon spread and additional help from every direction arrived, and during the night some 40 people were at hand to assist in the recovery of the body. The "Minnie Worcka" club and the Klee resort being well represented. A load of our local men, headed by Hank Ga-sen, supplied with ropes, hooks and ladders joined the searchers during the night. The body was recovered at 5:30 Friday morning. Mr. Eaton at once placed the whole arrangements in the hands of Wm. J. Neu, who promptly arranged matters with the district attorney, and had the remains brought to town in a rough box which on arriving found Undertaker Roderick in readiness.

Louis Federer, Sr., the father was notified at Sheboygan and a resulted that he would be at Three Lakes Friday afternoon and take the remains to his home on the limited, which he did.

The young man was, quiet, industrious and a favorite among his many school mates and business associates. He held a position with the Brun Drug Co., as clerk and was ready to take his final examination as a druggist early in September. He came to Three Lakes accompanied by his 11 year old brother to spend a week's vacation at his uncle's summer home on White Fish; they arrived on Tuesday and were having a fine time until the fatal hour arrived, when death overtook him; he and Clarence Eaton were out swimming and soon after a dive Louis cried for help and Clarence went to his assistance and dragged him some 30 feet toward the shore, realizing that he was unable to hold out he loosened his grip and Louis was no more.

Mr. Louis Federer and family of Sheboygan, Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Eaton of North Crandon, Mr. and Mrs. Wm.
Federer, and Mrs. Frank Federer desire to thank their neighbors and kind friends for their many kind acts performed throughout their sa-hours.

CROWDS HAVE FUN AT THE CARNIVAL

Westcott Shows Exhibiting On Streets of Rhinelander This Week

Among Rhinelander people, both young and old, the holiday spirit prevails this week due to the engagement in the city of the Westcott street carnival. The Westcott shows while not as large or containing as many meritorious entertainments as the Barkoot and Wortham & Allen carnivals, which have previously appeared here, is furnishing no little fun and excitement for the stream of humanity that nightly throngs the mid-way. Everybody seems to be enjoying the festival to the fullest extent. The crowds are orderly and the police have had no occasion to make arrests.

Among the attractions of the carnival which are apparently doing the best business are the Filipino mid gets, Mabel, the ocean wave and the carry-us-all. There are a score of catch penny games and devices all of which are receiving a certain amount of patronage.

It is understood that there will be "one big night," either Friday or Saturday, on which confetti, ticklers and other harmless forms of amusement will be in order. The word has also been passed that the company will be joined here by three new shows Friday.

Next week the carnival will be in Antigo under the auspices of the base ball association of that city.

HOBBSON CELEBRATES

Citizens Observe First Anniversary Of Village Saturday

Hobson, the thriving little town eleven miles east of Rhinelander, observed its first anniversary Saturday with a rousing celebration. It was one of the most enthusiastic and enjoyable occasions ever held in Oneida county. Various kinds of entertainments were provided for the merriment of the crowd, including sports, contests, music and a grand ball in the evening. It is estimated that nearly four hundred people enjoyed the day. A delegation from Rhinelander was present and the country surrounding Hobson was liberally represented.

Hobson is in the big potato section of Oneida county and during the last year the village has made surprising progress.

"THE SPENDTHRIFT"

Marion Sherwood will be here this season in the leading role in "The Spendthrift," a domestic drama in four acts from the pen of Porter Emerson Browne, author of "A Fool There Was."

Mr. Primrose, the producer, has given the play a sumptuous scenic equipment and the cast is in every respect worthy of Miss Sherwood.

The press has accorded her unanimous praise. Miss Sherwood will be favorably remembered by patrons of the Grand Opera House as having been seen here last season in "The Thief." She appears here Tuesday, August 19.

TRYING FOR STATE TEAM

The crack marksmen of the Wisconsin militia are at Camp Douglas this week competing for places on the state rifle team which will compete in the national shoot at Camp Perry.

Serg. Russell and Private Kramer are representing Company L in the competition. Lieut. Wesley and Serg. Pecor are also on the field.

Everybody's Doing It

"A year ago people didn't think of the possibility that a fire had been set," said a New York fire insurance adjuster. "Now they don't think of anything else. The other day I had to investigate a small fire. 'What do you think was the cause?' I asked the janitor. 'It looks to me,' said he, 'like the friction between a $500 value and a $1,600 policy.'"

SPEAKING OF CHANGES

By COSTER BYLES.

There was not a wilder boy in town than young Cuthbert Tanhurst. All the mothers with marriageable daughters held up their hands in horror at the mere mention of his name, and the men-about-town were unanimous in pronouncing him a thoroughbred. It was partly the fault of his education. His father had been a most successful speculator, and had taught his son that he must spend his money like a gentleman or not at all.

The young fellow had imbibed aristocratic desires from his earliest days, he had learned never to stint himself, never to do anything himself that others could be hired to do for him, and to believe that the one great object of living was to extract from each day as much pleasure as the hours would hold.

Then his father dropped suddenly from the position of millionaire to that of pauper, a not unusual change on the stage of speculation. A grand coup went wrong, and Tanhurst, Sr., was out of the game for good. The shock killed the old gentleman, and when the lawyers were done with the settlements, Cuthbert found himself penniless.

It was against his grain to go to work, so he became an habitue of the poker rooms at fashionable clubs, and a prominent figure at the race courses. It was at this time that his name became as a red rag to the good people of the town. With a very few exceptions all the strictly proper folks who had been glad to accept the hospitality of Tanhurst, Sr., turned away their heads when they saw the son.

At the close of a summer day he was walking home in a sullen mood. It had been a bad day, misfortune had dogged him persistently, and he was asking himself what was the use of continuing it all. He was of no good to himself, and there was no one else in the world who cared for him, or of whom he dared think as caring for him. In the old days of luxury he had always hoped to call Marie Fairborn his own, but now it was too late.

He had said to himself in the years past that after a taste of life there would be nothing like a quiet home shared with Marie. She had never disguised her liking for him. But now? He had not dared to go near the Fairborn house for over a year; when he had seen Marie he dodged round corners and avoided her. Now she was in his thoughts as a prize that he had long ago forfeited and must forget, with other things. His thoughts encompassed him in such a mist of gloom that he hardly looked where he was going. The lake was before him and he was walking toward it. He never noticed the figures that were approaching him. A sweet voice, like the memory of an old perfume, aroused him.

"Why, Cuthbert!" Marie Fairborn stood before him. He saw a look of wonder and pity within her eyes.

"I beg your pardon," he exclaimed confusedly, "I was not thinking—I never noticed—" he moved as though to pass on, but the girl stopped him. "Cuthbert," she said, "why won't you speak to me? I haven't seen you for ever so long."

"Marie," he returned desperately, "I'm not fit. If people should see you talking to me! Really, I'd better go."

"What nonsense, Cuthbert. You're fit enough for me. Come, you shall walk with me and tell me everything."

With much incoherency Cuthbert told the story of his downfall, or as much of it as he could relate without breaking. Somehow the soft eyes of the girl by his side led him to tell the story as he would have told it to no other human being. He spoke of his sins, his sorrows, his hopes, and of his present despair.

"So you see, Marie," he said at the finish, "I'm of no use at all. I might as well get out of the running altogether. Why should I take the trouble to work and struggle? I do not care enough for myself, now, to do that."

"But if there was some one else that you cared for, some one who would try to teach you to win back your self-respect, would you not try then?"

"But there is no one," he responded. "Perhaps, if there was—but why think of it?"

"But there is some one, Cuthbert. A little hand touched his gently, and he turned from his moody gazing to look down at the girl.

"Marie," he exclaimed, almost fiercely, "don't play with me. Are you in earnest? You don't really mean that you will be that some one, do you? You can't—you can't—what?" He stopped and kissed the gloved hand fervently.

"Now don't be an absurd boy," said Marie. But for the rest of the walk Cuthbert behaved himself like a boy just out of school.

About a year later a number of men were enjoying an after-dinner chat at the Bellevue club. "Speaking of changes," one man was saying, "did any one ever see anything to equal the change that came over Cuthbert Tanhurst after he married. Used to be the most worthless scamp in town. Buckled down to work like the mischief, and now he's doing fine. How do you account for it?"

"You remember the French philosopher's rule," replied his friend, "the rule he applied to all sorts of cases, good and bad. 'Find the woman.' It was a woman in that case. She used to be Marie Fairborn, she's Mrs. Tanhurst now."

WAS A "DARK HORSE"

By BELLE MANIATES.

"Thornton, I won't take 'no' for an answer this time. You can stay over a couple of weeks now just as well as not. There is a good golf links, boating, and I have three pretty daughters, and—"

"I certainly can't refuse such alluring inducements," laughed Thornton, "and I trust, Mr. Darnley, I won't be trespassing too much on your hospitality and the good nature of your household by accepting an impromptu invitation."

The household is an unconventional one, and delights in opening doors wide when a friend knocks," replied the elder man, taking down the telephone.

"Hello! This you, Madge? Mr. Thornton is in town—you have often heard me speak of him. I have persuaded him to remain over and pay us a visit. Yes, he'll come home with me tonight." After the transaction of some business which had brought Roger Thornton, the son of an old college friend of Mr. Darnley's, to the city, they took a suburban train to the latter's country home.

"The house looks rather forbidding," observed Mr. Darnley, as they came up the gravelled road, "but the girls detest lights in summer. I presume they are back in the garden. Sit down here on the porch and I will gather them up."

Rogers heard a light footfall behind him. Then two soft arms encircled his neck, a velvet cheek was laid against his own, and a beautiful voice murmured tenderly:

"What made you so late, dear?"

Roger sat like a man dazed, stunned by the touch of lips and cheek. After a throbbing silence he half whispered:

"I beg your pardon!"

There was a horrified exclamation, a swift withdrawal of arms, and the sound of vanishing skirts.

In a distant part of the house he heard echoes of mirthful laughter. Presently Darnley came out of the house.

"After prowling all over the grounds, I found the girls in the dining-room preparing a chafing dish luncheon for us. Come in and meet them."

In the dining-room Roger was presented to the three girls. In vain he looked into the roguish faces seeking some tell-tale token. But not a sign of confusion or enlightenment did he receive.

"I must tell you a good joke, Thornton," laughed Darnley. "The girls supposed it was your father I was to bring home with me!"

"Indeed! And was I also supposed to be my father when I sat out on the porch just now?" he asked, meaningly.

There was a trio of laughing voices and knowing glances.

"No. You were thought to be me," explained Darnley. "See if you can guess which one made the embarrassing error."

"There is but one way in which I can decide that matter," replied Roger, gravely.

"How?" demanded the trio.

"I must close my eyes, and each one of you can in turn come up behind me and repeat the error! Then, I might decide."

This was positively and laughingly declined. After a merry evening, Roger retired, unable to decide which of these beautiful young women he thought the most charming. The next day and evening found him still undecided, and also in the dark as to who had bestowed upon him the delectable embrace.

On the third evening of his visit, Marie Loveridge, a niece of Mr. Darnley's, arrived to pay a visit. She was a type altogether different from her light-hearted laughter-loving cousins.

By one or two skillful moves, Roger drew her apart from the gay crowd and sought a secluded retreat in the rose garden.

"Do you know," he said, suddenly, "I had a very strange experience the first night of my arrival here."

"That was before I came," reminded Marie.

"Mr. Darnley left me on the porch while he went in search of his family, and while I waited there alone in the darkness, I felt two soft arms about my neck, a cheek laid against mine, and a light kiss, and the most beautiful voice I ever heard said: 'What made you so late, dear?' When I spoke, she fled. Marie, from the first moment I saw you, I knew it must have been you who came to me there in the darkness and taught me what love might be!"

"But," she said, her voice trembling, "you know I did not come until two days later."

"I know. But still it was you—in a dream, perhaps, but, Marie, will you not make the dream come true? Can you not love me?"

With a little, glad laugh, she turned to him, and he held her in his arms.

"Roger," she said, presently, "I came a day before your arrival, and stole out that night, thinking to meet Uncle Will and reproach him for being so late. When I found my mistake, I ran in and told the girls, and begged them to keep my secret. They were lovely not to betray me, but every time I was alone with you, I was conscious of what I had done—"

"So was I, Marie," he replied.

MANY EXPOSITIONS AT THE STATE FAIR

DISPLAYS IN VARIOUS DEPARTMENTS SURPASS COUNTRY'S LARGE SPECIAL SHOWS.

DAIRY SHOW WORLD'S BEST

Premiums Are Increased and Superintendents Arrange for Larger and Higher Standards of Exhibitions.

EXECUTIVE HEADS ENERGETIC.

The Wisconsin state fair to be held in Milwaukee, September 8 to 12, will be not merely a big exposition but numerous exhibitions in conjunction, each of which will rank with and frequently outclass special shows in its line promoted on the largest scale the country over. Every department will be such an exhibition of world wide import. The fact that the board has provided for material increases in premiums, particularly for standard varieties of products and manufactures and breeds of stock, affords added assurance that past display records will be broken.

Magnificent Dairy Exhibit.

For many years Wisconsin has been recognized as the home of the royalty of dairymen. The pastures of the plateau between the valley of the Mississippi river and Lake Michigan abound in the finest and richest grasses known, and over them roam the world's best blooded stock. Foreign breeders come to the Badger state to learn the last word about dairy and beef breeds of cattle. With these splendid cattle right at home and a record of former exhibitions that have set standards for the entire world, also with the greatly increased awards this year, the 1913 state fair cattle exhibit will make a new mark for excellence and magnitude. In direct connection, the great dairy product exhibit also will be the criterion for the world wide industry. With the finest and best equipped dairy building on a state fair ground and assurance of nearly 50,000 pounds of butter and cheese exhibits, the hitherto unequalled success of this show is a certainty. Charles L. Hill, Roseendale, superintendent of the cattle department, and H. C. Larson, second assistant dairy and food commissioner and head of the dairy department, each are experienced and capable in their lines and are making elaborate preparations for their exhibitions.

In the horse department arrangements have been made for a larger and more representative exhibit of the standard breeds, also with materially increased awards. One change of note is the separate classification this year for the Belgians, with $800 appropriated for premiums. Good classifications are afforded for general purpose, coach, saddle, high school horses, and ponies. A horse show will be an appreciated feature. W. K. Caldwell, Morrisonville, is superintendent of the horse department, and is making early and able arrangements.

The sheep, swine, poultry and pet stock departments are receiving much more than usual attention this year, as increased importance of the industries in Wisconsin demand. In these divisions also have premiums been increased and classifications made to meet enlarged conditions. Ira M. J. Chryst, Hudson, again has charge of the sheep department, where his efficiency already has been attested. Mrs. Adda F. Howie, Elm Grove, the only woman member of board, has been rechosen to superintend the poultry department in which office she demonstrated unusual ability in 1912. James Dillon, Mondovi, is head of the swine department and has introduced new arrangements that are receiving much commendation. Mr. Dillon long has been recognized as an authority on methods in both raising and exhibiting swine, and is popular with experts in that line.

Large Grain Display.

The agricultural and horticultural departments will forbid comparison with former years, as new plans are on a larger scale and are designed to interest many more important exhibitors. Wisconsin's rank as a producer of wheat, oats, barley, rye, grasses and vegetables will be ably demonstrated. H. E. Krueger, Beaver Dam, is in charge. Mr. Krueger is an expert in the production of pure grains, and his barley has won the international championship successfully for several years. D. W. Larkin, Sturgeon Bay, is in charge of the horticultural show, which promises as great improvement this year as any feature of the fair. Many floral societies in Milwaukee and other cities of the state are arranging for displays this year. The building will be filled.

The machinery exhibit will tax all accommodations. Many new exhibitors and others who have not made displays for years already have applied for space. Notable is the International Harvester company, which returns after three years' absence and calls for 200 front feet of space. Nearly all the space in machinery row was assigned early in the summer. The space in automobile and machinery hall also is being assigned rapidly. That farmers and auto dealers have much in sympathy is proven by the fact that the dealers ask for large space in order that they may demonstrate all classes of cars. City residents and manufacturers also take advantage of the auto show at the state fair as affording the widest range of consideration in selecting cars. J. A. Chinnock, Hudson, is at the head of the machinery department and the show will be a credit to his energy. Jacob Dietrich, Cedarburg, has charge of automobile and machinery hall.

Higher standards will prevail in the art department this year. James J. Nelson, Amherst, for years has contended for an adequate art exhibit, and much of the success heretofore should be accredited to him. This year Mr. Nelson, continuing as superintendent, is interesting many artists and art societies which heretofore have given little attention to the fair. It is recognized also that art has a place in any American home and for that reason amateur work receives careful attention and is well classified.

Where the Housewife Reigns.

Miss Mary E. Chadwick, Watertown, continues in charge of the woman's work department, one of the most important features of the exposition. Miss Chadwick made her department show marked improvement last year and urges the women of the state to co-operate with her to show added development. Everything of interest to the housewife is included, with many divisions and sub-divisions in both domestic and fancy work.

A. W. Prehn, Wausau, continues in charge of the speed program. This year more money than ever before is set aside for purses and a large field of the best horses the country affords is assured.

No department, possibly, will show more advancement this year than that which includes the special county exhibits, and which again is under the supervision of George F. Comings, Eau Claire. This department has developed within the past two or three years, and it is hoped that every county in the state will be represented this year with early assurance from about two-thirds of them. The counties have learned the value of setting forth their individual resources at the state fair.

Education ever has been an important primary element of Wisconsin's marked success. Accordingly the board of agriculture gives appropriate recognition. The splendid education building will be filled with exhibits exemplifying the excellent work among the young by all branches of the Wisconsin school system. Practically in learning is the key note. A feature this year will be the state spelling contest in which winners of preliminary contests in all the counties will meet to compete for the state championship at the state fair. A silver medal will be awarded and the competitors will be guests of the board of agriculture September 9 and 10 at the fair. Supt. George W. Davies, North Freedom, Sauk county, again is in charge of the education department. He is credited with the excellent standards of the department and for many of the new ideas adopted this year.

With all these excellent arrangements the success of the state fair would be a small reality without a capable executive department. President O. G. Rewey, of Rewey, last year demonstrated unusual ability at the head of the board of agriculture and in charge of the fair, and this year, with the advantage of experience, is doing a work that alone is more than sufficient assurance of the success of Wisconsin's great exposition. Ably assisting Mr. Rewey in many ways is Ira M. J. Chryst, Hudson, in the office of vice president.

Much of the burden of the work of the board of agriculture and of the arrangements for the fair fall upon Secretary J. C. MacKenzie, Madison. Mr. MacKenzie met his arduous task last year with marked success, and this year is able to add excellent experience to good judgment in disposing of the thousands of problems and details that are left to him alone. With business instinct, and an appreciation of the needs of a fair in Wisconsin, Mr. Rewey and Mr. MacKenzie are adding both economy and merit to the many good qualities of the state exposition. The executive board, valuable adjunct to the official list, consists of President O. G. Rewey, Vice President Ira M. J. Chryst, D. W. Larkin, A. W. Prehn and G. R. Kunz.

State Fair park will be an evening wonderland September 8 to 12. All departments will be open at night and there will be many free attractions and plenty of music. Admission 25 cents after 5 o'clock each afternoon.

Let machinery do it. What? The hard work on the farm. Select your machinery after you have inspected the world's greatest display at the state fair, Milwaukee, September 8 to 12.

Twenty-five tons of butter and cheese, from the world's best creameries and cheese factories will be on exhibition at the state fair, Milwaukee, September 8 to 12.

The fastest horses of the biggest race circuits will compete for the $24,700 in purses at the state fair, Milwaukee, September 8 to 12.

Thinking of buying an automobile? Look over the magnificent display at the state fair, Milwaukee, September 8 to 12.
